

$5 Donation For Altar Marks Start Of Trinity Lutheran

On Feb. 29, 1940, a group of interested individuals met in the home of Henry Fink to discuss the possibility of establishing a Lutheran church in the New Lenox community. Presiding was the Rev. Walter J. Geffert, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church of Mokena, who made a door-to-door canvass on foot, to question people about the proposition.

A decision was made to hold services in the Haven school auditorium on March 10 with Mrs. Amos Bruns the accompanist for the first service. She also is the present organist.

A motion was made to build an altar, the cost not to exceed $5. With such a beginning, a congregation was organized in September. The charter members were L. J. Boynton, E. W. Gernenz, Edward Kersten, G. F. Krog, H. F. Triebe, L. C. White, L. E. Brown, E. C. Rydberg and G. G. Webster. The latter three are still members. In May of 1940, a committee was selected to find a church site. On Feb., 1941, a down payment was made on two lots at the corner of Cedar Rd., and Elm St.

In the spring of 1941 a large quantity of uncut stone was purchased by Mr. Rydberg and cut by him into appropriate sizes. The outbreak of World War II and the necessary restrictions resulting from the war prohibited the construction of a complete church edifice.

A decision was made in the spring of 1942 to attempt to construct a basement-type church. Chairman of the building committee was Lester Brown. The aim was to hold the first service on Christmas Eve, which was made possible. The dedication was held on Jan. 31, 1942.

During this period the Rev. Mr. Gee

During this period the Rev. Mr. Geffert, the founding pastor, served as its leader, as well as his own congregation in Mokena. In April, 1942, he went to Kingfisher, Okla. An interim pastor, Rev. William Lieske from Joliet, served until the congregation called a resident pastor the Rev. James G. Manz, who was installed in July 1943.

In the next few years, the church outgrew the space and the basement structure was lengthened and widened. The chairman of the building committee was Herbert Steinbach.

The first service in the enlarged structure was held in April, 1949. The Rev. Mr. Manz accepted a call to Chicago in December, 1945, and in April, 1946, the present pastor, the Rev. Leonard Reinke was installed. The congregation was subsidized until January, 1954, at which time it became self-supporting.

In the winter of 1951, a decision was made to complete the super-structure. Steinbach was still serving as chairman of the building committee.

Work began in the spring of 1952 with assistance again being furnished by the members. On Sept. 28, the church was completed and ready for worship. After 12 years of work, the first service was held in the completed edifice with the Rev. Mr. Geffert delivering the sermon.

The acquisition of a parsonage, the purchase of the remaining lots facing Cedar Rd., as a parking area, as well as acquiring a two-manual electric organ, represents further growth. Other projects are under consideration but further action has not been taken.

Church officers in 1961 are L. E. Brown, president; G. H. Ruhle, vice president; Chester Bowman, financial secretary; J. G. Steinbach, treasurer; and R. D. Joyce, secretary.

Elders are Raymond Steinbrenner, Earl Dieken, Robert Stockley, Elmer Zarse, Bowman, and K. J. Rathert. Trustees are E. P. Dau, John Olson and Walter Ruthenbeck.

Mrs. Mark Schultz is president of the Women's league with Mrs. R. A. Minger as vice president; Mrs. Bowman as secretary and Mrs. J. F. Magee as treasurer. Mrs. D. W. Dunn heads the Chancel guild with Mrs. Ruhle as vice president; Mrs. J. J. Cvelbar as secretary and Mrs. Steinbrenner, treasurer.

Mr. Steinbrenner is the president of the Men's club. Gerald Norton is the vice president with Harvey Carlson as secretary and R. C. Wischover as treasurer.

In the Walther league Jan Anderson is the president; Judy Dunn is vice president. Serving as secretary is Mary Gibson with Judy Termuende as treasurer and Shirley Zarse as librarian.

Sunday school superintendent is Alfred Mitchell. He is assisted by Walter Steinbrenner. Joyce is secretary with Mrs. Joyce serving as treasurer.

Chairman of the Youth counselors is Ray Webster. Counselors are Mr. and Mrs. William Clark and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Anderson.

The choir director is Mrs. W. J. Clark.

FAITH AND PERSEVERANCE marked the building of Trinity Lutheran church at New Lenox. The edifice, which stands at the intersection of N. Cedar road and Elm st., began on paper in 1940 but the structure was not completed until 12 years later. Much of the work was done by members. For example, back in 1941 Ernest C. Rydberg purchased a quantity of stone and then proceeded to cut it to form the walls. But it was a long time before those walls were finished. The top picture shows the altar, lectern and pulpit. The altar here is a far cry from the first one that served the congregation. For a time services were conducted in the Haven school and the members voted to build an altar but with the proviso that the cost was not to exceed $5. From this humble beginning Trinity Lutheran has become one of the finest churches in the area. (Winke Photos)

FIRE ON REGAN FARM last Thursday noon destroyed these two barns and silo and two other structures besides some farm machinery.

Fire Destroys Four Farm Buildings And Equipment

Fire of undetermined origin broke out on farm owned by Mrs. Robert Regan, of New Lenox, on Regan road, just west of the Wabash railroad last Thursday (June 29) and destroyed two barns, a silo, a corncrib and a machine shed. There was no loss of livestock.

Several pieces of machinery were destroyed also, including a combine and a tractor. No estimate was placed on the damage but the buildings and equipment were insured.

Firemen from Mokena and New Lenox fought the blaze for more than an hour and then spent another hour in watering it down.

The fire broke out in one of the barns and was discovered about 11:30 a.m. An alarm was turned in immediately but by the time firemen could arrive the flames had such a start it was impossible to save the structures involved. Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

The farm was rented by Fred McNally, of Joliet, and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Haywood and their five children. McNally had hired Haywood to work the place. It was formerly known as the Bush farm.

Between the heat from the blaze and a sun temperature of well over 90 degrees it was a hot job for the firemen but none of them was overcome.

As an added attraction, a delicious home cooked family style chicken dinner will be served Sunday, July 16 beginning at noon and will continue thru out the day. Homemade pies and cakes will be offered as dessert. The cost of the dinner will be $1.75 for adults, 75¢ for children and preschoolers will be served free of charge. Miss Jean Sagan, chairman of the dinner will be assisted by Mrs. Lucille

To Install Automatic Flashers

ICC Orders Protection For Francis Rd. Crossing

Automatic flasher signals that warn of an approaching train are to be installed on the Francis road crossing of the Wabash in New Lenox twp. within the next 12 months.

Order for the installation of crossing protection followed a hearing before an Illinois commerce commission examiner at Chicago last week. The examiner, James Parker, now must allocate the cost of the improvement to the interested parties.

The railroad, which must install the signals and maintain them and the crossing, will prepay the least in the purchase of the device, about 10 per cent. The state highway department will pay from 50 to 60 per cent and the remainder of the cost will be born by Will County, it was said. The examiner is now working out the costs to each agency. The signals themselves will cost about $8,672, according to A. R. Pamperel, of St. Louis, a Wabash engineer.

Installation of the signals will cost considerably, it was pointed out because it will be necessary to take up rails and install cables.

Attending the hearing from Will county were James McCarthy, county highway engineer; Supervisor John E. Francis, of New Lenox, Mayor Charles Swanberg, of Mokena; A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of Lincoln-Way high school and Gordon Cox, New Lenox, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and Brakemen. Representing the ICC, besides the examiner, were Ivan C. Harper and John Leisenring and James H. Wood, railroad inspector.

It was brought out at the hearing that in the past 18 months four persons have been killed on the Francis road crossing and that some protective device was required.

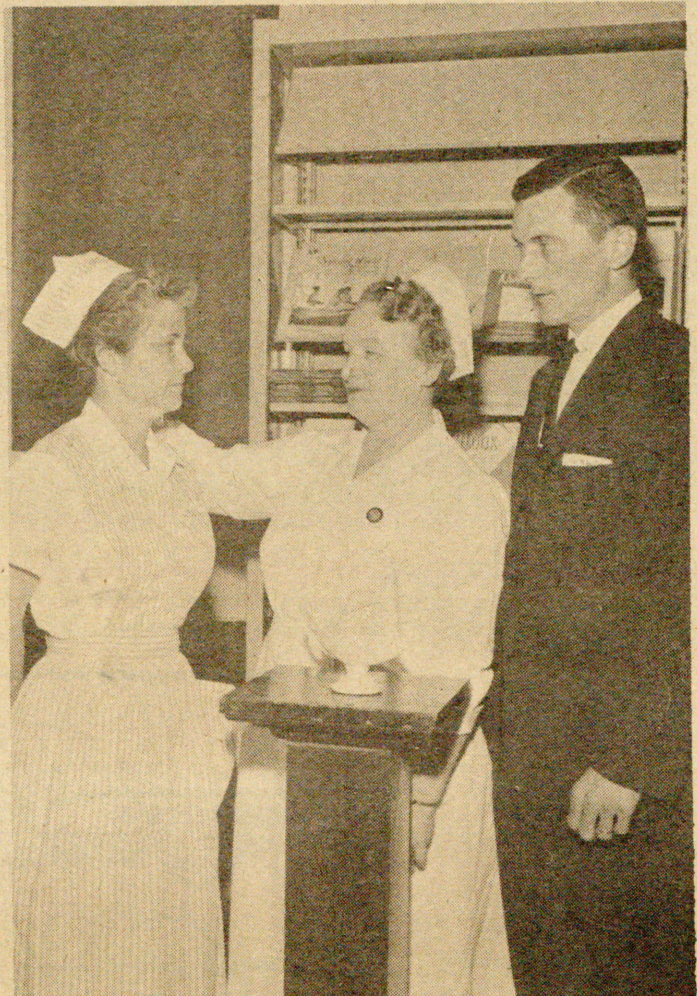

The policy of the ICC is such that it will not order safety gates for a single track crossing and by single track is meant a one-line road such as the Wabash. The purpose of the gates, it was pointed out, is to prevent persons crossing until the way is clear. A person waiting for a train to pass in one direction might proceed as soon as it passed only to find himself in the path of a train coming from the other direction. The protection for the Francis road crossing will be flasher lights and local officials are glad to get them.

At the hearing last week it was brought out that a traffic survey taken last month, beginning at noon June 5 and ending at noon June 6, showed 1,428 vehicles used the crossing. Some were out-of-state vehicles, showing licenses from Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio and Minnesota. Too many of the cars were traveling at high speed, too fast for the road itself and too fast to stop even had flashers been in operation and were signalling the approach of a train, it was brought out.

Town, county, village and other agencies have been striving to get protection for the Francis road crossing for the past two years. Two coroner's juries also recommended gates or flashers to prevent future fatalities.

Safety experts point out that the flashers will save the lives if they are obeyed. They also advise motorists to slow down when they encounter a sign that warns a railroad crossing is just ahead. Drivers approaching a rail crossing, the experts say, should have their cars completely under control.

MRS. EVANIS DINA, 138 Front street, Mokena is shown receiving her student practical nurse's cap from Mrs. Teresa A. Bernoudy R. N., administrator of nursing and director of the Oak Forest hospital school of practical nursing located at 159th and Cicero avenue. Looking on is Edmund G. Lawler, superintendent of the hospital.

The capping ceremony was held June 16 signifying completion of the first 16 weeks course. Graduation exercises for the one year course will be held next February.

Horse Show Attended By Record Crowd

An estimated crowd of more than 1,000 persons and 430 entries combined to make the third annual horse show, staged by the New Lenox Riding club, what was termed a "huge" success Sunday at the Fred Francis 4-H field.

Proceeds for the show will go toward the establishment of a permanent 4-H home at the New Lenox site left to Will county 4-H groups by the late Fred Francis.

Following the wedding, the guests attended a reception and dinner given by the bride's parents.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an ivory gown of imported alencon lace and pure silk organza. The moulded bodice was styled with a scoop neckline outlined in lace medallions embroidered with seed pearls; the short, shirred sleeves were complemented by matching mitts. The full-gathered skirt, appliqued with matching motifs, was fashioned with a bustle back which extended into a chapel train. Her short ivory veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and pearls. Her bridal bouquet of pale pink sweetheart roses and ivy streamers surrounded a white orchid.

The bride chose her sisters, Mrs. David S. Glasgow, Mexico City, Mexico as matron of honor and Miss Margaret Shapiro as maid of honor. Miss Patricia Plecinski, Gary, Ind. and Mrs. Mark Johnson, Jefferson City, Mo. were bridesmaids.

The attendants were identically gowned in moulin rouge pink sheath dresses of peau de soie with matching silk organza overskirts. Their head pieces were large soft petaled roses of matching color to secure their veils. Each carried a single long-stemmed deep pink rose. Mr. Federici chose Nick Burich, Chicago as his best man and ushers were Ernie Basic, Frank Basic both of Chicago; August Sciacqua, Orland Park and Harry Shapiro, the bride's brother.

Following a honeymoon, the couple will make their home in Miami, Fla.

A Good Job

We would like to take this opportunity to thank county, town and state officials as well as a number of public spirited individuals for pushing the Francis road crossing protection case thru to a successful conclusion.

At a hearing conducted by an Illinois commerce commission examiner in Chicago last week it was announced the work would be ordered and it was expected that flasher warning lights, which will work automatically on the approach of a train, will be installed within the next 12 months.

We make no attempt to list those who have played a part in getting approval for this very necessary crossing protection. There are many and we might miss some. Engineers for Will county and the Wabash railroad have been discussing the situation for several months and were in agreement as to division of the cost and the work when the hearing was held Tuesday.

In fact there was little to the hearing except for a review of the problem presented by the crossing but then it had to be held so an order could be issued for installation of the warning signals.

Such signals should give ample warning to motorists approaching the crossing. Of course they won't be of much aid to careless drivers who approach the crossing at excessive speeds. Testimony taken at the ICC hearing disclosed that some drivers flashed over the Wabash tracks on Francis road at 70 m.p.h. and more.

Anyone traveling that fast would not be able to stop if there were gates. There is no way to protect a careless and wanton driver against himself. There are curves on both sides of the crossing and conservative speeds are recommended. Motorists are especially cautioned against fast driving at this spot when the pavement is wet. Francis road is blacktopped and when wet blacktopped roads are slippery and treacherous. Even speeds of 35 and 40 miles an hour are excessive under such conditions at this crossing, safety people have pointed out.

Four persons have been killed on the Francis road crossing in the past 18 months. It is to be hoped there will be no other deaths there. The flasher signals should be of great assistance in protecting persons who use the crossing but we repeat, signals nor any other device will not protect those who make no attempt to protect themselves.

Their other son Keith, who has recently returned to Cecil Field, near Jacksonville, Fla. following a furlough at home, will leave for Cuba with the 34th Aviation Squadron.

A03 Kenneth Oldendorf, who will receive his discharge in about six months, has now returned to his naval base at Coronado, Calif., after serving seven months in the Philippines, Hong Kong, China and Japan. In his letters to his parents, he said he liked China, expect for the extremely hot weather.

Leonard Hemmrich, son of Mrs. Walter Schoeneck was discharged from the Navy last Tuesday at Treasure Island Naval Base at San Francisco, Calif. He served with the navy for three years in the electrical engineering field and has received the rank of AE3. He plans to continue his studies in this field and will enter an engineering school this fall. Another Navy serviceman Randy Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Potter of Woodland circle, returned to his base at Widby Island, Puget Sound, at Seattle, Wash. after spending a 30 day furlough at home. He will report for duty on the Carrier USS Coral Sea. He has one more year to serve before his discharge.

AT3 Terry Marshall, whose parents the Arthur Marshalls live in Sunny Acres, left last week, following a 30 day furlough, for his base at China Lake, Calif., where he will serve for another year before his term is finished. He is in training at a missile target base.

AD2 John Lavezzi recently received his discharge from the Navy after serving for 31/2 years. He is presently employed with the Mokena Wall-paper Co.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

P. Jefferson Throttlebottom, man about town and bourbon consultant for numerous pubs and clubs, sighed with relief as he eased himself into the most comfortable chair, loosened his collar and wriggled his feet out of his loafers.

He stretched luxuriously and being of a saving nature made use of the movement to spear one of my cigars with one hand and pulled out his handkerchief with the other. He proceeded to mop his face and neck.

"This is a hot one," he said, "regular hot tea, gin or rum weather."

I mentioned buttermilk, beer or water as alternate choices. He made a wry face.

"Everyone to his own liking," Jeff countered. "Personally I find bourbon a palatable potion anytime but from what I have read about people living in hot countries their favorite tipple is hot tea, rum or gin. Never having lived in the tropics I am willing to go along with the writers."

Jeff puffed contentedly on his cigar and then resumed:

"From my observation one doesn't have to go to the tropics to take up gin drinking. I would say that the consumption of gin in America is greater than in hot places. That figures, of course," he conceded, "because there are more people here than in those islands and countries with the poetic names."

"Why we have so many gin drinkers, however, is something I can't answer with any certainty. All I can do is theorize and blame it on Prohibition. It was easier to get a concoction of juniper extract and glycerine than flavoring for bourbon, rye or scotch. Whatever fondant, or flavor one had he simply mixed it with what he hoped was a good grade of ethyl alcohol, plus some distilled water, and there you were. Personally I stumbled onto an excellent mix for rum that produced a better tasting rum than most of those you find today. But gin was the easiest to make or get and so more of it was consumed."

"Drinking straight gin was never quite respectable in this country. Tom Collins, gin bucks, gin fizzes and martinis passed muster in fashionable company but one who took his gin straight was outside the pale."

"Martinis were not too popular during prohibition because vermouth was difficult to obtain and at that time those who had drank before were accustomed to vermouth in martinis."

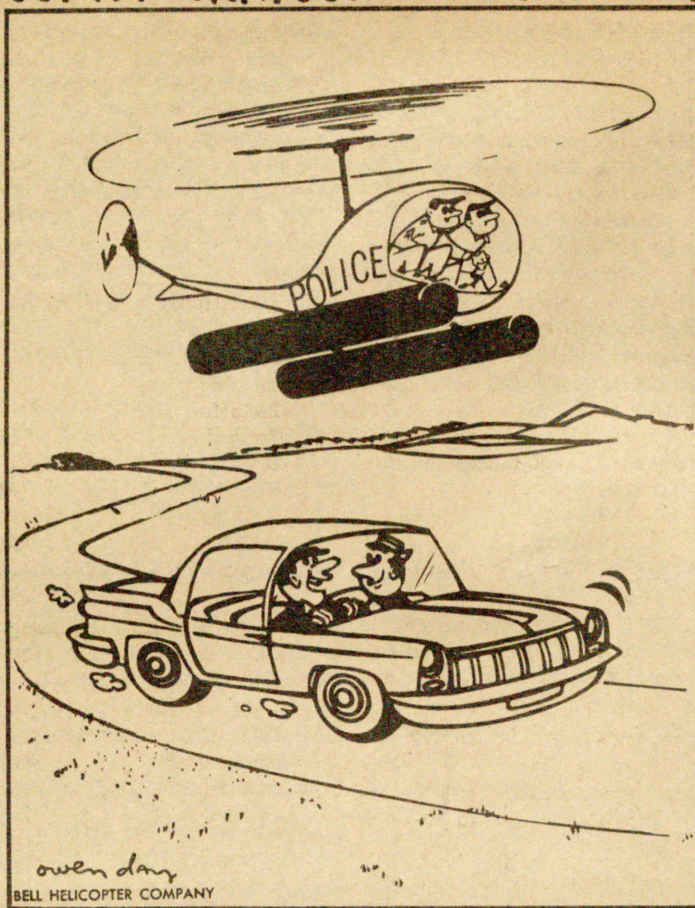

"Toward the close of the era, however, those who had acquired a taste for straight gin made the discovery that one could have his cake and eat it too. He could drink gin neat and rate as respectable if he called it a dry, a very dry martini. At least that is my theory."

"The habit of tucking away gin on the rocks has grown tremendously but the consumers order them as martinis—very dry—and now you find some of our best people downing straight gin with no reflection on their social standing."

WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE

The second in a series of three vegetable production twilight meetings was held Friday, June 23. Specialists in insect, weed and disease control from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture were present to answer questions.

We met at the weed control plot on the Rich Biesboer farm, east of Glenwood. From there we went to the disease control demonstration plot on the C. J. Rietveld farm just west of Torrence ave. on Bernice road. Several herbicides show promise; namely, Dacthal, Randox T and a couple of experimental chemicals. Further study must be made as one year's results aren't valid. Also several of these chemicals must be cleared by the Food and Drug Administration.

There are many spots where water stands after a rain, often drowning out crops or delaying farm work. Summer is an excellent time to do something about them. If the subsoil is so tight that tile will not work, as it often is in these spots, surface drains will help. You will need a good survey to be sure the ditches are in the right places. The Soil Conservation Service can provide this help.

Grass waterways need frequent clipping to keep them in best condition. Mow now before weeds and grass grow any more. Many farmers put up the grass from the waterway as hay. If the grass has grown well, be sure to get it out of the channel. If you leave it there, it may collect in bunches during heavy runoff and cause serious erosion in the waterway.

The most popular part of any soil and water conservation program may be a good farm pond. Besides being a place to swim and fish, a well built and properly cared-for pond can be worth more than any other similar sized area on your entire farm.

Jeff slipped on his shoes, helped himself to another cigar and stood up to go.

"I have a recipe," he said, "that was given me by a combination news photographer and soldier of fortune which might help the vermouth makers and at the same time give the straight gin contingent theumph they appear to demand. One mixes a fifth of gin with a fifth of vermouth (dry, of course) and a fifth of Bacardi, chill for an hour in a deep freeze (this prevents the dilution one would have by using ice) and then serve in beer glasses. It is called The Crusher. Well, so long son," and out he popped.

He had talked himself thirsty and I suspected he was heading for a slug of gin.

PHOOEY ON CELLAR DOORS! This contraption here is a slide that is built for a slide and the young men here will attest to the fact that the one in the Mokena Community park is a good one. That is Mike Boydston in front and back of him (l to r) are, Johnny Shewski, Doug Friant and Mike Shewski. That cellar door stuff is old hat. Once upon a time they were used for slides but they were splintery things and few of them had sufficient pitch to be exciting. The modern slide is much better and besides there aren't many of the slanted outside cellar doors to be found these days.

Washington News Letter

BY CONG. N. M. MASON
FEDERAL AID MEANS FEDERAL CONTROL: "The cat is out of the bag!"

Always the claim goes up from proponents of massive Federal aid grants for education that no federal control would ensue from the enactment of such legislation. Notwithstanding these protestations and provisions, it is apparent that few actually believe that federal control over education would not result from the kind of aid program proposed.

Now, the Office of Education has issued a revealing report entitled "A Federal Education Agency for the Future." The report is dated April, 1961, and was printed by the government printing office. It was produced over the last five months thru the efforts of a group known as a Committee on the Mission and Organization of the Office of Education whose duty was to develop "a clearcut and balanced statement of the mission proper to the Office of Education over the next decade, and a reasonably detailed outline of an organizational structure that would be most conducive to the effective and efficient accomplishment of that mission."

The report should be labeled a proposed blueprint for federal takeover of education, a blueprint for federal thought control in America. It repeatedly stresses the necessity for federal action in formulating educational policies; it recommends review of teacher preparation, curriculums and textbooks; it states that we must implement international education projects in the United States, indicating future closer relationships with UNESCO, ministries of education abroad and others; it advocates social scientists as advisers in the Office of Education; it recommends an enlarged Office of Education.

Sterling M. McMurrin, commissioner of education, has commended the committee for what he terms its "well-considered recommendations," and went on to say that it is his conviction that the spirit and purpose of the report deserve the hearty endorsement of the Office of Education, and the department of health, education and welfare.

Commissioner McMurrin continued: "I anticipate that much of this activity will take place thru normal administrative processes within the office and the department."

The following quotation from the report speaks plainly and ominously concerning the plan to impose federal control over our public educational system: "This agency must assume a new role, speaking within the federal government for the long-term interests of education. And it must render assistance in the development of public educational policy."

As viewed by the Office of Education, its educational duties would be practically all-embracing, and apparently would extend from cradle to grave, as shown by the following quote:

"The popular nature of American education argues for the creation of a national lay advisory body in the field of education."

No significant facet of education appears to be overlooked in the sweeping recommendations for federal action in the field of education.

To accomplish the goals set forth in the report, it is not at all surprising that an enlarged Office of Education is proposed. A recommendation along these lines is included in the report. Under that recommendation the office would become the U. S. Education Agency, and would be headed by a U. S. Commissioner of Education. That the office envisions educational policymaking authority is also made abundantly clear.

I believe everyone concerned with preserving freedom in America should be made aware of the significance of the plans being made to centralize control over public education in Washington; therefore, this letter of warning.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER

Dutch elm disease is probably the most damaging elm tree disease in our area, but is by no means the only one present.

A very common disease is known as "Wetwood." This disease is caused by a bacteria which lives in the sapwood. It is found in other trees besides elm, but is more widespread and causes more damage in elms than other trees.

The disease produces wilting of one or more branches of the tree. Examination of the sapwood of the branch reveals brown streaking similar to that associated with other diseases.

The name wet-wood comes from the accumulation of sap in the tree causing a water-soaked condition. Also, fermentation of the sap produces large amounts of gas in the trunk, pressures as high as 60 pounds per square inch force sap out of cracks in crotches and trunks, and through wounds where branches were removed.

The sap soon dries to form white or gray encrustations below crotches and wounds, creating a very characteristic symptom. If these encrustations are present on a tree, wetwood can be suspected. Infected trees are easy to spot from a distance as you drive down the street.

Another vascular disease producing brown discoloration in elm branches is Verticillium wilt. This disease is common on other types of trees and is particularly destructive on maple.

The leaves of the affected tree may wilt at any time during the growing season. Single branches or the entire tree may wilt at one time. Some trees may show a limited amount of wilt one year, recover, and not wilt in succeeding years. Others may wilt every year until the tree finally dies. Often branches which show wilt will produce new leaves 3 or 4 weeks later, so don't cut off a branch until you know it's dead.

Dethiorella wilt is a third vascular disease of elms, the disease causes yellowing, curling, and wilting of the leaves. Later, the leaves fall and cankers form and affected branches die back.

Diseased bark turns reddish-brown and becomes shrunken. In time, black raised particles of the fungus appear in the diseased bark.

Brown streaks produced in the young sapwood of wilting branches may be confused with those caused by dutch elm or verticillium wilt.

Unlike dutch elm disease, these three diseases of elm can be controlled. All three are present in this area.

Proper diagnosis can only be made by a qualified mycologist after culturing in a laboratory. Do not rely on the visual symptoms alone as positive proof of any of the diseases.

For information on how to have samples cultured and how to control these diseases, contact your Extension Service, c/o this paper.

Casey Becomes Disorderly And Goes To Jail

George C. Casey, 24, of Oak Forest was arrested Saturday morning after state police were called to the Arch Inn at Routes 30 and 42A.

At the time of his death he was a foreman at the Crane company in Chicago.

Former Champs In Race At Stadium Saturday

All but two of the champions of nine years of racing at Joliet Memorial stadium may be in the lineup for the midget auto racing program Saturday night.

Only Ken Rubright of Rock Falls, who won the first track championship in 1952, and Bud Abraham of Chicago, 1953 ti-dist, aren't driving this season.

Bob Tattersall of Streator, champion in 1956, 1958 and 1959, has made one appearance at the stadium this year, but may be back Saturday night.

The only former champion in contention for the 1961 prize is veteran Tony Lenti of Markham, Lenti, who has one feature race victory to his credit, won titles in 1954 and '55. Also back this year are George Sellery of Westchester (1957) and Russ Sweedler of Joliet (1960).

Several newcomers have entered competition at the Joliet track this year. Among them are Les Scott of North Hollywood, Calif., Hal Fishendorf of Carey, Ill., Garry Congdon of Kenosha, Wis., and Pancho Padilla, Joliet.

Saturday's program will include four heat races, a handicap, 15 lap semifeature and 25 lap feature. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m.

Get Those Polio Shots

Paralytic polio is still a public health problem and menace as long as there are people who are vulnerable because they are not fully vaccinated. Because of the fact that the oral-live-virus polio vaccine will not be available before the 1961 summer poliomyelitis season, the Salk vaccine should be administered to all adults under 40 and all children, in the following dosage schedule:

First injection - anytime; Second injection - 2 to 4 weeks later; Third injection - 6 to 12 months later; Fourth injection - 12 months later and Fifth injection - 12 months later.

After the fifth injection, polio booster shots should be administered every two years or at the discretion of the family physician.

The public is reminded that the Salk vaccine is plentiful and has proved highly effective. The fact that it is effective is shown in the following statistics: Cases of paralytic polio in 1952 - 21,000; Cases of paralytic polio in 1959 - 6,289; Cases of paralytic polio in 1960 - 2,265.

Individuals, however, should not be lulled into a sense of false security if they have not been immunized.

Public health analysis has shown that in spite of all inducement, pressure, and advice—38% of children five years and under, 63% of men aged 20-40, and 48% of women aged 20-40 are not fully vaccinated.

Studies of paralytic polio cases in 1960 show that almost half were babies and children five years and under, young adults who contracted the disease were among those most seriously paralyzed. These facts underline the plea of the Will-Grundy County Medical Society for everyone, but particularly babies and breadwinners to get all necessary polio immunizations.

Manhattan Snaps Victory String Of N. Lenox Ruths

All good things must end sometime. The New Lenox Babe Ruth entry in the Tri-County league discovered this truth last week when its victory string ended at five. Manhattan won No. 6 by a score of 6 to 5.

New Lenox pitchers were stingy enough with hits, limiting the victors to four, but they were over-generous with passes. In the course of the seven-inning tilt Manhattan drew 11 bases on balls.

It was walks in the final inning that accounted for the winning tally. Jeff Urban was pitching and fanned the first two batters to face him. Then he lost the plate and walked the next three. He had thrown two more wide ones on the sixth man up in the inning and Coach Ron Larsen called in Ray Jast for mound duty. Jast walked in the run that put Manhattan ahead 6 to 5 and then got the next batter to fly out.

The New Lenox outfit made 11 hits but couldn't get the bats going in the last of the seventh. This was the first game the club has lost this season.

Olympia Fields Will Host Top Pros For PGA Open July 27

The nation's most outstanding test of golf skill on a professional level comes to the Golden Triangle Area July 24 to July 30 when the 43rd. Professional Golfers Association Championship is held at Olympia Fields Country Club just southeast of Tinley Park.

Practice rounds will be held July 24, 25 and 26. The PGA Championship is conducted at 72 holes, stroke play. All qualifiers and exempt players will take part in the first two rounds of 18 holes each on July 27 and 28.

At the end of 36 holes, the field will be cut to the low 90 and those tying for 90th place. The third round will be played on July 29 when, after 54 holes, the field will again be cut to the low 60 and those tying for 60th place.

The winner will receive custody of the Wanamaker Trophy for the ensuing year. The total prize money will be determined during the Championship and is likely to be as great or greater than last year's total of $63,130 of which $11,000 was awarded as first prize. Every player completing the 72 holes will be assured of a minimum of $200.

Jay Hebert, Lafayette, La., won the 42nd PGA Championship at Firestone Country Club, Akron, Ohio. Hebert scored 72-67-72-70 -- 281.

Picture taking will not be permitted except on practice days. The PGA will allow only official press photographers to use cameras during the championship because photography interferes with tournament play and is not fair to contestants.

Season grounds and clubhouse admission certificates can be purchased in advance from the PGA Tournament office, Olympia Fields, Ill., by mail or in person. Holders of these certificates will be mailed identification badges by Olympia Fields Country Club about June 15.

During the practice rounds and Championship, July 24 through 30, season grounds identification badges will be obtainable at all admission booths. Exchangeable coupons for daily admissions will be available in advance at $5 each or they may be obtained on days of play at all admission booths.

Daily admissions for practice rounds, July 24, 25, and 26 are $2 and for tournament play, July 27, 28, 29 and 30, $5.

The north course at Olympia Fields Country Club is one of the finest natural golf courses in the country and a real test for medal play competition.

The Olympia Fields, Ill., course, site of the 43rd PGA Championship, July 27-30, was designed by one of the greatest golf course architects of all time, Willie Park Jr.

The natural beauty of the wooded terrain and winding valley of Butterfield Creek provide the natural hazards for a championship golf course.

Too Many Monthly Payments Create Distress

FINANCIAL PRESS
RELEASE DATED TODAY
Does your paycheck look like a sieve after taking care of your family obligations representing installment accounts and loan payments?

Why make so many burdensome monthly payments when one loan can do it all and one place to make your payments. 40 years of lending service qualifies this firm to handle your financial problems. Phone the Jaffee Commercial Finance Co., 1655 Oak St., Chicago Heights, Ill., SK 5-7200 (out of town inquirers may call collect).

Opened for play July 4, 1923 the north course at Olympia Fields was the site of the PGA Championship in 1925. It was won by Walter Hagen.

Olympia Fields was chartered in 1915, and the No. 1 course, or south course, was laid out by Tom Bendelow. The No. 2 course was planned by William Watson between 1916 and 1919.

The No. 3 course was opened in June of 1920.

In August of that year, the Western Open was played on No. 1 and No. 2 courses. The No. 2 and No. 3 courses no longer exist.

Hagen also won the Western Open in 1927 when it was played at Olympia. When the USGA Open was held there in 1928 Johnny Farrell won in a play-off with Bob Jones.

In 1933, MacDonald Smith won the Western Open by six strokes with a record breaking 282. The competitive course record of 65 was set in 1940 by Lawson Little in qualifying for the USGA Open, which Little went on to win that year.

Olympia Fields has been the scene of many other championships throughout the years, including the Women's Western Amateur.

The 1961 PGA Championship will be won by the professional who can play long, well-spaced position shots from the tee, a bold iron player who will play for the pin, as there is very little trouble behind the greens, and the bold putter who will play for the back of the cup, as the texture of the bent putting greens will favor this type of player.

The prevailing westerly winds will also add a few strokes to the scores.

A par 35-35-70 course, Olympia Fields measures 3,370 yards on the first nine and 3,352 yards on the back nine, for a total of 6,722 yards.

COURSE LAYOUT

Here's the course, hole by hole:

No. 1 -- 510 yards, par 5: Straightaway. Out of bounds on the left. Traps on both sides of the fairway in play off the tee. Cross bunkers about 400 yards on both sides of the fairway. Approach to a large, undulating green guarded by traps on the left and right sides. The narrow opening to the green favors play from the left side of the fairway. An excellent starting hole.

No. 2 -- 455 yards, par 4: A slight dogleg to the right. Traps and shrubbery at right side of the fairway. Tee shot should be to the left center, which favors the opening to a well trapped green for iron play. Heavily wooded behind the green.

No. 3 -- 443 yards, par 4: Tee shot from elevated tee to low, flat valley. Creek about 75 yards in front forms natural water hazard. Iron approach elevated, sloping green, well guarded by traps. Large oak trees on both sides and rear of green provides additional trouble. One of the most outstanding holes in the country.

No. 4 -- 415 yards, par 4: Tee shot through narrow opening. Out of bounds on left side of fairway, and wooded on right side. Iron approach to small, well trapped green. Out of bounds behind the green.

No. 5 -- 355 yards, par 4: Tee shot through narrow opening, wooded on both sides of the fairway. Well placed traps on the left side of the fairway require accurately placed tee shot, and short iron approach to small, tricky green well trapped on all sides.

No. 6 -- 150 yards, par 3: Iron shot from natural elevated tee to large green, well trapped in front and both sides. Windy Butterfield Creek forms a natural water hazard in front and to left of the green.

No. 7 -- 412 yards, par 4: Tee shot from an elevated tee to a wide fairway, with trees bordering the left side and cross bunkers on the right. Iron shot to a large, natural rolling green, well trapped on both sides and front.

No. 8 -- 250 yards, par 3: Tee shot from level tee to large, undulating green, well trapped on all sides. A long par-3 with practically all carry required off the tee.

No. 9 -- 380 yards, par 4: A slight dogleg to the left. Cross fairway bunkers on the left and right sides of fairway. Iron second to sloping, natural green well guarded by traps in front and on right side and by trees to the left, rear and right.

BEAUTIFUL HOLE
No. 10 -- 382 yards, par 4: Slight dogleg to the right, with fairway well wooded on both sides. Natural water hazard about 300 yards from tee. Iron shot to undulating, well trapped green. A beautiful natural golf hole.

No. 11 -- 155 yards, par 3: A difficult, short par 3. Deep ravine on the left side of green, well trapped on all sides. Well wooded on the left rear and right side of green.

No. 12 -- 425 yards, par 4: Tee shot from elevated tee to fairway below. Well wooded from tee to green on both sides of the fairway. Butterfield Creek crosses fairway about 120 yards from the tee, flows along the right side, forming a lateral water hazard, and crosses the fairway again about 300 yards from the tee. Second shot to a natural elevated green, well trapped in front and on both sides. One of the country's outstanding golf holes.

No. 13 -- 545 yards, par 5: Slight dogleg to the right. Well wooded on both sides of fairway from tee to green, with deep ravine on the right. Traps on both sides of the fairway. The green is well trapped on all sides and wooded behind. Other outstanding hole of natural beauty.

No. 14 -- 148 yards, par 3: An outstanding short hole. Tee shot from elevated tee to natural rolling green below, well trapped on all sides. The winding creek in front and at the left of the green forms a natural water hazard. Wooded to the right from tee to green.

BEAN BAG SHOT—Suzanne Leonard is discovering that proper form enables one to perform better and score higher when it comes to games that require physical effort — even tossing a bean bag. She is getting instructions here from Sharon Cappel, director of the summer recreational program at Mokena Community park. The program is sponsored by the Mokena park district.

READY TO RUN—This young deer was a little worried, but he was soon on his way after being released in the yard of the Evergreen Farms as one of a group of 75 who will help populate the 3,000 acre farm. Each one is being tagged (note deer's left ear) for record keeping on reproduction and survival.

Reclaims Wisconsin Acreage For Forest And Wildlife Area

A young lad, clad in lederhosen, stood on the banks of a cool trout stream winding around his little village near Hanover, Germany, longing to fish the stream and hunt in the forest where his father worked. He dreamed, as only children can, that some day he would have a forest in which to hunt and stream to fish, because in his village only two families were privileged to hunt and fish in the baronial forest.

Now in Medford, Wis., that dream has come true. A. H. "Gus" Bartels of Chicago is in the process of creating a unique forest and wildlife habitat in Taylor County, Wis.

Patterned after his childhood recollections in Hanover Province the 3,000 acre Evergreen Farms Inc. is taking hold, wildlife is being transplanted, and facilities are taking shape.

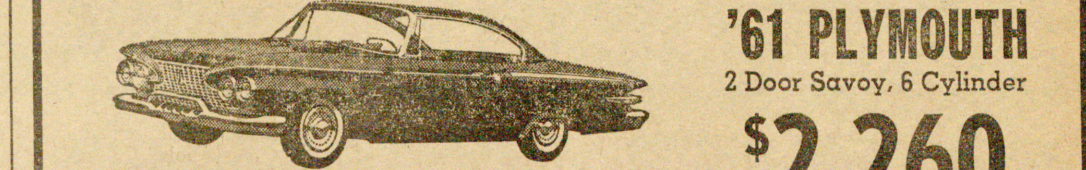

The tract of land is located 14 miles west of Medford, extending south of Highway 64, not too far from the source of the Black River. A portion borders the west bank of the river.

The reclamation of land for its most advantageous use as a recreational area on the corporation basis of private enterprise reflects the trend of Americans seeking recreation and relaxation away from the rush of the city and also away from highly commercialized vacation areas.

Evergreen Farms is being eyed as a model for a new vista in exploiting the natural potentialities of northern Wisconsin and at the same time guaranteeing an economic future through reforestation and wildlife preservation.

The area is being watched closely by the Wisconsin conservation department because of its unique development.
